Public Review has officially begun for the standard CAN/DGSI 111-1 Online Electoral Voting – Part 1: Implementation of Online Voting in Canadian Municipal Elections.

This standard was prepared by the Digital Governance Standards Institute (DGSI) for Online Electoral Voting for elections, referendums, and other types of municipal votes. DGSI worked with thought leaders and experts in cybersecurity, political science, public policy, election administration and related subjects to develop this standard, in accordance with Standards Council of Canada (SCC) guidelines.

This is the first edition of the standard, and the public review phase will remain open until February 28, 2024. Please share this with your networks so that comprehensive feedback can be received. Both English and French versions are available.
